In is proverbially difficult to clear a dog of bad name, and the same remark applies equally to individuals of the human spacies or to places. Hongkong baving got the name of being a haunt of smugglers and a place whence a vest amount of contraband opium is introduced into China it will doubt be a long time before the general publicat a distance come to look on it in any other light. There can be, however, no excuse for ignorance on the part of public | say. writers on the spot, who have access to and ought to be familiar with the real facts of the case. The Peking correspondent of the N. C. Daily News, referring to the tour of Sir ROBERT HART, Says :- "The Inspector-General will most probably sack to arrange the opium smuggling question at Hongkong, | Lhassa should be gained on the thirty-second where it is believed some. 30,000 chests are passed into China duty free, thus entailing a heavy loss to the revenue. This vexed question ought to be set at rest once for all. the new Opium Convention a clause was inmerted expressing the desirability of enquiring into the question as soon as possible, as | sucka-maru returned to Yokohama the following if the whole question were not long ago well morning, having on board the passengers and understood and long been calling for settlement. A British Colony so near the shores | The Shidsuoka-maru was bound for Shimidsu, of China should scrapulously guard against this wholesale smuggling to which the Chinese are so prone, and for which they are so well fitted, and which so seriously affects the Capt. On thirty thousand chests complained of a nasty swell rendering it difficult there is a loss of a hundred taels on each to work, but hoped it would go down shortly and Chan Tze-chun. It is not known at present chest, making the respectable sum of three million taels." The whole question is everything out of the wreck worth salving by caution is necessary in carrying on trade on the evidently not well understood by the the end of the month. He well deserves the writer of the above, or, if understood, the facts are misrepresented. Even his arithmetic is at fault, as another correspondent, signing bimself "Hougkong." points out in a subsequent issue of our Shanghai contemporary, as follows: -- The dral the building known as St. Saviour's College, were, as he alleges, smuggled into China Italian Mission, and the dwelling houses in would be Tis. 900,000, and not, as he says, held in one of the chapels of the new Cathedral, 30 per chest only." But how does the Peking writer arrive at the 30,000 chests? The counted for. Of this amount probably about half is passed in junks through the Native Custom Houses established outside Hongkong. The actual quantity passed through these stations was ascertained in 1875, when, out of 21,670 piculs of opium left at Hong. kong duty was collected by the Native Authorities on 10.818. From the remainder has again to be deducted the amount boiled in Hongkong for local consumption and export and the quantity shipped in its raw state elsewhere than to China: The Com. missioners, who went very fully into the question, arrived at the conclusion that the quantity of opium emuggled into China from Hongkong cannot be more than 4,000 picule annually. The loss to the Chinese Government on this amount, at the present rate of duty, would be only Tls. 129,000, great contrast to the imposing sum of Tis. 3,000,000 set out by the Peking corres-NORTHERN & Messrs. Hall & Holtz and Kelly bondent whose remarks we have quoted. & Walsh, Shanghai. How this writer could have set the loss down at Tis, 100 per chest we are at a loss to understand, unless he was under the impression the Now Opium Agreement had already been brought into operation, but such an amount of ignorance as this would suppose is almost inconceivable. Under the hest regulated system for preventing contraband trade some amount of amuggling would inevitably still go on. Even with the almost perfect preventive service of Great MELBOURNE ... Massrs. > DARING PIRACIES AND MURDERS IN TONQUIN.

A Chinese correspondent at Haiphong, writing on the 30th May, sends us a communication to the following effect: He says that of late there have been a large number of robbers and pirates in Tonquin who have greatly interfered with trade with the interior, and it is desirable that traders going up the rivers should be warned to be very careful and keep a sharp look out. as two well anthenticated cases of piracy have just reached Haiphong .

On the 24th May a telegram reached Hano stating that M. Georges Pottier, a Frenchman of the mercentile firm of Pottier & Wibaux, that city, who about two months ago went to trade at a place called Posing, and realised some money butors, I shall not regret the cause.—I sm, Sir there, had been murdered by pirates. It seems that on the return journey he engaged an Annamite cargo-boat to take him back to Hanoi-When about half way to that city he was killed and robbed by the river pirates. FILIAL PIETY IN CHINA.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE "DAILY PRESS." SIR,-This moment, as I chanced to call at the Club, your issue of the morning has brought me a surprise that had been also a mortification. but that it furnishes mo a welcome opportunity to point to some specimens of the annoying parversions that printers are wont to foist upon a patiently indulgent public only too successfully albeit they are blemishes to make a school-boy blush. These are of more serious, import; and in bastening to thank you for the prominence Triven to your reproduction of my contribution upon the important question of Filial Piety, as you found it reported in the May issue of the Journal of the China Branch of the Royal Asia tic Society. I desire to state that what is, to my mind, a degree of obtrusiveness from which I may well shrink, has arisen from the accidental omission of my paper from the issue of the Journal of January, wherein the papers of the other contributors were published, and the consequent attempt to reinstate me in the position as one of the eleven whose answers were in the affirmative, as declared by the President and read on the 15th of October, as appeared in a report to the N. C. Herald, wherein the name: were all given, as were those of the six contributors in the negative. But, by some mischance, the attempt has so far miscarried that I am compelled to ask the further favour of publication of my paper from the enclosed original press copy, wherein it will be seen that I wrote of the "domestic polity" of China, not of its policy, and of "a hypothetical element," not of hypothetical element, nor did I. and before "Otherwise" on the fourth line If your generosity, in thus having drawn attention to the most influential factor in Chinese national life, leads your readers to the perusal of the more-weighty disquisitions of other contri-

Sir Robert Hart, accompanied by his private those who undertook the job will soon be crowned | inspection of the ports. The Inspector-General will most probably seek to arrange the opium smuggling question at Hongkong, where it is believed some 30,000 chests are passed into Chinaduty free, thus entailing a heavy loss to the revenue. This vexed question ought to be set at rest once for all. In the new opium convention s clause was inserted expressing the desirability of enquiring into the question as soon as possible, as if the whole question were not long ago well understood and long been calling for settlement. A British Colony so near the shores of China should scrapulously guard against this wholesale smuggling to which the Chinese are so prone, and for which they are so well fitted, and which so seriously affects the Chinese revenue. On thirty thousand chests there is a loss of a hundred taels on each chest, making the respectable sum of three million tacks.—N. C.

The case against the youth Naftally, a Greek subject, for assault and battery upon Mr. F. Neville, an American subject, which we stated in our last issue would have to be referred to Yokohama, was eventually settled by Mons. Frandon fining the defendant $22 and costs. Considering the gravity of the offence: of deliberately going home and procuring "knuckledusters," and using them without provocation compared to a common assault, committed in the heat of the moment, -- we think the sentence im-, posed an absurdly light one; but at the same time we believe the law was enforced to the full extent. Should the same party be guilty of a re-petition of the offence, he will, we believe, not be in such a good position to congratulate himself upon the leniency of the law as at present.-
